

ABSTRACT

A method for forming, by epitaxy, a heteroatomic single-crystal semiconductor layer on a single-crystal semiconductor wafer, the crystal lattices of the layer and of the wafer being different, including forming, before the epitaxy, in the wafer surface, at least 5 one ring of discontinuities around a useful region.